

Best Master's Thesis Award in Monetary Economics

Norges Bank seeks to encourage the production of master's theses of the highest quality in the field of monetary economics.

This award is an annual event open to all students enrolled in a Master's degree programme at a Norwegian institution who have submitted a thesis for grading within the last calendar year (January-December 2026).

The winner(s) will have the opportunity to present his/her(their) work in a seminar at Norges Bank, spend one day at the bank to meet researchers and policymakers and receive a cash prize of 20 000 NOK. In addition the winner(s) are invited to attend the annual speech delivered by the Governor of Norges Bank.

The deadline to submit a thesis for the competition is December 31, 2026. Completed theses should be submitted at sigurd-molster.galaasen@norges-bank.no in pdf format.

Please use the title "Submission for Best Master Thesis Award in Monetary Economics" in the subject line of the email.

A committee composed of researchers and policy economists at Norges Bank will evaluate submissions. Decisions will be communicated by February 1, 2027.
